Executive Director

Dear Friends,

This past year was in many ways a homecoming for the International Security Foundation (ISF) and the global security community. In January 2022, the Overseas Security Advisory Council (OSAC) returned to in-person events while retaining hybrid functions to encourage greater participation. It has been a joy to see colleagues connecting face to face and witness the networking and collegial bonding that is the foundation of this industry and OSAC events.

The ISF celebrated numerous in-person events as well with sponsorships of OSAC Common Interest Committee meetings and Country Chapter events to the reception following OSAC's ringing of the Nasdaq bell on May 25, 2022. Of course, the highlight of our year was hosting 900-plus guests at our signature event, the Annual ISF Dinner to celebrate OSAC during the 2022 OSAC Annual Briefing (more on page 8).

This Annual Report details the impact your support has across the globe. Because of your generosity, thousands of security professionals may better serve the communities in their care and better protect Americans and American interests abroad. Thank you for being part of such a momentous year, and we look forward to all that is to come.

Sincerely,

2022 in Review

Donor support in 2022 included sponsorship of numerous Common Interest Committee events and Country Chapters to a reception following OSAC's ringing of the Nasdaq bell and the launch event for the newest OSAC Affinity Group, the Global Security Pride Committee, which underscores the need for representation of the LGBTQIA+ community within global security.

Energy Sector Committee spring meeting.

GirlSecurity founder and CEO Lauren Bean Buitta with future security leaders at the spring 2022 Middle East & North Africa Regional Committee event.

The Latin America Regional Committee spring 2022 meeting.

Middle East & North Africa Regional Council and National Women in Security Event: (l. to r.) Gentry Smith, Assistant Secretary of State, Diplomatic Security; Pat Mahoney, recent MENA RC Chair; and Ellen Tannor, OSAC Executive Director.

On May 25, 2022, ISF hosted the reception following OSAC's ringing of the Nasdaq closing bell in New York City. A great crowd of OSAC and ISF supporters were on hand to witness Assistant Secretary of State for Diplomatic Security Gentry Smith ring the closing bell. Durst provided a lovely rooftop venue for the reception.

11th Annual ISF Dinner

We hosted 900-plus guests at the glorious National Building Museum on November 16, 2022, returning to the ISF tradition of celebrating OSAC in-person during OSAC's Annual Briefing Week. Thanks to our generous sponsors, the ISF raised more than $1.1 million for OSAC program support. The caliber of speakers and entertainment underscored the security community's excitement about being together at this signature event after two years of virtual ISF receptions.

Our keynote speaker, Dr. Robert M. Gates, offered poignant, resonating remarks about how he approached his duty of care while serving as Secretary of Defense from 2006 to 2011. Ann Compton, broadcasting legend and pioneer, kept the program moving along as emcee, and the Congressional Chorus' stirring rendition of the National Anthem added another dimension of men and women who serve their country as Congressional staffers.

Thank you to everyone who sponsored, bought a ticket or helped to make this such a memorable evening. We are particularly grateful to The Webster Group for its event-planning expertise, EMT Productions and D3.

The keynote remarks by Dr. Robert Gates, Secretary of Defense from 2006 to 2011, were incredible, as was our return to the magnificent National Building Museum.

DIAMOND SPONSOR SPOTLIGHTS

For the 11th Annual ISF Dinner this year, the ISF was honored to have our largest number of Diamond Sponsors yet for the annual event. Leadership gifts enable the ISF to support OSAC programming and smaller, U.S.-security-focused nonprofits in transformative ways. Thank you!

"ISF via OSAC plays an increasingly critical role in furthering the success of the private-public security partnership. Allied Universal®, which now includes G4S and SOS Security, represents approximately 800,000 employees in more than 100 countries and 80 embassies and consulates around the world. The OSAC/ISF partnership is crucial in making a safer world in an ever-changing security climate."

2022 Annual ISF Dinner Diamond Sponsor

"The relationships that OSAC cultivates are invaluable to the successful navigation of the world that we are operating in today, which can be complex and challenging. Our commitment to OSAC, through our leadership support of ISF, is intentional, because we believe that the investment we're making to our global security community now has the power to move us all forward in extraordinary and impactful ways."

~ Nick Lovrien, CPP, Chief Global Security Officer-Vice President, Meta

Meta's ISF Support:

Leadership Donor since 2019

Annual ISF Dinner Diamond Sponsor since 2021

"Our partnership with the U.S. Department of State, enabled by the ISF, is imperative to how we plan for resilience. We actively support Diplomatic Security engagements and rely on the global network that the ISF stewards, as we collectively mitigate global risks. We remain profoundly thankful to the ISF and the Department of State."

2022 ISF Grant Recipients

The ISF Grants program for U.S.-based nonprofits that serve the global security community awarded its third round of grant funding in 2022 to Hostage US and the Diplomatic Security Foundation (DSF).

Hostage US, a nonprofit supporting the families of the estimated 200 Americans taken hostage or wrongfully detained abroad each year, received the first-ever ISF non-OSAC grant in 2020. The DSF, which received a grant in 2021, provides timely financial support and charitable contributions to its members in the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Diplomatic Security, members' immediate family and colleagues in the law enforcement and U.S. foreign affairs community.

2022 DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT AWARD: REGIONAL SECURITY OFFICER

Karen Lass, Regional Security Officer, London

A living expression of what OSAC strives to be for its membership, Karen Lass is dependable, accurate, reliable and accessible. Together with the OSAC United Kingdom Steering Committee, she created excellent events with rare opportunities for 150 members such as convening at the Ambassador's residence in London to reunite in person after remote meetings. She continues to navigate the priorities of her Country Chapter with admirable skill and keeps everyone motivated and connected via active Google and WhatsApp groups, in-person events, personal visits and more.

Bina Surati Hensel (center)

2022 DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT AWARD: PROGRAM OFFICE

Bina Surati Hensel, Senior Analyst, OSAC Program Office, Europe

Throughout Russia's invasion of Ukraine, Bina Surati Hensel's extensive historical knowledge and constant situational awareness helped OSAC produce the best research, reporting and benchmarking possible. Utilizing multiple communication platforms including a dedicated Signal group, Bina delivered content to a vast audience in real time, creating critical dialogues around evacuation routes, charter flights and more. She ensured that member questions and concerns were addressed around the clock. The communications channels and products Bina established continue to be utilized today and her consult is sought on an ongoing basis. Her positive approach and the trust she has forged between private and public sectors create team spirit, calm those straining to navigate highly complicated and fluid security environments and inspire her fellow OSAC Program Office staff members to work effectively toward shared goals.

Michael Latza (center)

2022 DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT AWARD: PRIVATE SECTOR

Michael Latza, Manager Regional Security, Mastercard

Mike Latza's great contributions to OSAC stem from his deep understanding of security from both the public and private sectors—and from his fortitude, persistence and good will. He served as a Diplomatic Security Special Agent in Chicago, an Assistant Regional Security Officer in Abu Dhabi, Erbil and Dubai and as a U.S. Army Engineer in Germany, Iraq and Afghanistan. Now in his role at Mastercard, he continually dedicates himself to building strong connections within OSAC United Arab Emirates (UAE) and beyond. In 2022, as violence rocked Kazakhstan, Mike steadily fed critical information that was used for OSAC situational analysis and facilitated in-the-moment information sharing within OSAC UAE. When some organizations lacked online access, Mike personally ensured channels remained open using the platforms they could reach.

2022 COMMON INTEREST COMMITTEE ACHIEVEMENT AWARD Academia Sector Committee

The Academia Sector Committee (ASC) has exemplified the best that public-private partnerships have to offer in its continual sourcing of expert speakers, streamlined coordination of global events and a continual pursuit of timely information to keep U.S. colleges and universities operating safely around the world. Led by ASC Chair Christine Sprovieri, Brown University's Director of International Travel Risk Management, and Vice-chair Jaime Signoracci, Director of International Safety and Security at University of Notre Dame, the ASC actively engage with the OSAC Program Office and extended Common Interest Committee membership to deliver essential materials such as mental health toolkits and ongoing risk analysis for study abroad programs, satellite campuses and more. Last year, the ASC continued its objective to expand diversity throughout academia with the first in-person event for Historically Black Colleges and Universities.

2022 COUNTRY CHAPTER ACHIEVEMENT AWARD OSAC Colombia-Bogotá Chapter

OSAC Bogotá's long history of excellence continues with the leadership of Regional Security Officer Fernando Matus and Co-chair Ricardo Triana. Together they have consistently rallied productive events, including monthly virtual meetings that regularly saw attendance of 60 or more, enabling members to stay in close contact while navigating the challenges of the pandemic. In 2022, members tackled major security topics like cybersecurity and cyber-fraud and regional concerns like kidnapping and organized crime. They took the initiative to call upon other OSAC chapters to collaborate, forming valuable bridges and tapping into broader perspectives. By creating numerous opportunities for open dialogue and information exchange, the Colombia-Bogotá Chapter has helped the wider OSAC community stay connected, informed and secure.

ISF Board of Directors at its strategic planning session in April 2022.

This past year saw exciting new initiatives for the ISF. In April, the ISF Board of Directors met in Washington, D.C. to create a strategic plan for the ISF. The four pillars of the adopted strategic plan are:

- 1) Grants to both OSAC and smaller, security-focused U.S. nonprofits
- 2) Education to support leadership and training for professionals and students
- 3) Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) initiatives to promote and enhance DEI within the security profession
- 4) Organization to strengthen the ISF internal structure.

ISF launched its DEI Committee in 2021. During summer and fall 2022, the ISF Board and staff participated in DEI training by an outside facilitator to brainstorm DEI programming opportunities to benefit the larger security community. The first phase of the ISF's DEI focus will be an ISF-sponsored DEI Summit on April 11, 2023, at The Boeing Company in Virginia for partner organizations ASIS, DSAC, ISF, ISMA and OSAC. The summit will identify current DEI work, begin discussions about ongoing needs to promote DEI in the security space, and establish joint goals and potential partnerships opportunities. In addition, the ISF launched a new website in August 2022 at securityfdn.org.
